1. Come all my jolly sea-men, likewise you lands-men too, It is a dreadful story I will unfold to you. It's our good ship, the Cumberland, lay anchored in the bay, When all about the Cumberland, the ship so true and brave, And it's man from on the lookout, down to the rest did say, "There is

Given the free nature of this melody, accompaniment should only be used if necessary to stay on pitch.